

THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER

For nearly five years the Sunday Advertiser has delighted its thousands of readers with many features of general as well as local interest. Small talks with the "great and near great" are read with interest by all classes and the "Bystander" is greeted as an old friend by everybody. The comments on local and governmental affairs are usually crisp and the financial column is filled with valuable information relative to the commerce of the islands.

"FOR THE STOMACH'S SAKE"

A department in which the newest recipes for good cookery are made public is the delight of the average housewife who has the usual home worries of the kitchen. These delicacies have been made here from the original recipes and are not mere experiments in the line of promoting indigestion.

Some have been used by the chefs of the best hotels and the clubs and pronounced excellent. This Department of the paper will be up to its usual high standard tomorrow.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE.

There is to be some local color on the Woman's Page of the Sunday Advertiser tomorrow, bits of dress gossip that will please the ladies of Honolulu because the items will deal with articles that are tangible to them. Some of the smart things seen at Wichman's will be included in the style talks.

MISCELLANY.

One of the best stories of the year, a sort of between courses affair that will occupy your time at the breakfast table, is by George Edgar, author of "Pagan Billy Gubbins" and a host of other good things. This one is called "Of the Mysterious Minstrels," a simple tale of young love.

SPORTS.

Honolulu is one of the best towns of its size in the world for outdoor sports and the Advertiser spends more money to get the accounts of events and the photographs of those taking part than any paper in the country. The sports page tomorrow will be replete with good things in the world of athletics with a word or two on the trip to be made to Japan by the St. Louis team.

BETWEEN NAPS.

A lot of short stuff, something to encourage the usual Sunday nap, forms a part of every coast paper. Why not the town paper? In the lot tomorrow is an interesting and amusing skit on the slang Londoners use and another about the "Woman who went to Church."

EDITORIALS

Comprise opinions of the leading news journals and periodicals of the world. They are bunched and handed out to you condensed and in convenient form for your Sunday reading. The man or woman who reads the Sunday Advertiser on Monday, rather than have it come into the Lord's Day life, makes a mistake. Hints in the Sunday Advertiser aid one in living through the day as it should be lived.

TWO COURTROOMS DECLARED UNSAFE

Leaky Roofs and Falling Plaster in the Judiciary Building.

Owing to the recent rains and a leaky roof, several patches of plaster have fallen from the ceiling on the second floor of the Judiciary building, and yesterday James Veary, the head carpenter of the Public Works Department, announced that it was unsafe to hold court in Judge Lindsay's courtroom any more, and that there was danger of plaster falling from the ceiling near the makai side in Judge Robinson's courtroom. On this announcement Judge Lindsay abandoned his courtroom until repairs are made, and Judge Robinson moved his jury from the makai to the mauka side of the courtroom to keep them out of danger. Judge Lindsay sent the following letter to Chief Justice Hartwell, regarding the matter:

October 11, 1907.
Hon. Alfred S. Hartwell, Chief Justice, Supreme Court.
Dear Sir: I beg to call your attention to the unsafe condition of my courtroom. Yesterday a large piece of plaster from the ceiling fell and, had there been anyone standing underneath, the consequences might have been very serious. The roof leaks like a sieve, and during the trial of a case yesterday the attorneys in attendance were standing in water nearly over their shoes. This morning the chief carpenter from the Department of Public Works examined the ceiling and said that it was absolutely unsafe. The entire ceiling is cracked and there is every indication that it may fall at any moment.

Under the circumstances I feel that it will be unwise to continue holding court there, and I shall endeavor to find temporary quarters elsewhere until repairs can be made.

Trusting that you will lay this matter before the proper authorities at your earliest convenience, I remain, yours faithfully,

ALEX. LINDSAY, JR.,
Second Judge, Circuit Court, First Circuit.

The last Legislature made an appropriation of $50,000 for the "repair, rehabilitation and equipment of Allolani Hale (Judiciary Building)." This appropriation became available July 1, but no plans for using it were prepared because Governor Carter was opposed to repairing the building, being in favor of a new building altogether, as it was understood. He vetoed the appropriation, but the Legislature passed it over his veto.

While no definite plans have yet been made for the rehabilitation of the building, the general scheme on which the fifty thousand dollars was appropriated is an entire reconstruction of the interior with steel I-beams and pillars and fireproof partitions and concrete floors, making the building practically fireproof. The foundations and walls of the building are strong and in perfect preservation, and the architecture of the building is considered high class.

This complete reconstruction of the interior could not be undertaken right away under any circumstances, as the material is not at hand and will take some time to secure, and can be done better during the summer vacation of the courts than at any other time.

It is proposed, however, to put on a new roof to prevent further leaking and deterioration, and to repair the ceilings so that they shall no longer be a danger.

For the present Judge Lindsay will occupy Judge Weaver's courtroom.

JAPANESE MARRIED WOMAN SUICIDES

Coroner William P. Jarrett's panel last night came to the conclusion that nineteen-year-old Hisayo Ozaki, Japanese woman and wife of Jiji Ozaki, came to her death by her own hand. She hung herself by the neck until she was dead some time during the night of Thursday or early morning of Friday, using a piece of stout cord twice doubled and suspending her small body from the top cross-beam of the door of the kitchen on the second floor of a tenement, in the rear, on King street, a block north of the King and Beretania avenue junction.

The husband's story was that they went to bed together about 10 o'clock Thursday night and in the morning of yesterday, between 3 and 4 o'clock, he awoke to find himself alone. He thought when he got up and saw the clothes from a trunk thrown about the floor that the woman had run away and taken what money they had saved, but investigation showed that the cash, $80, was still in the trunk. He then started to leave the room to search for his wife and found the door locked from the outside. He pounded on the wall and neighbors let him out and together they sought his wife, finally finding her hanging as above described. Hisayo had used a kerosene tin to mount to the improvised scaffold and had swung her feet clear of it. There were no marks on the body beyond those of the cord on the neck. There was nothing to show that there had been any quarrel between husband and wife and the cause of the suicide remains a mystery. The husband could give no reason, nor could any of the numerous Japanese witnesses at the inquest last night throw any light on the woman's taking her own life.

Members of the coroner's jury were: D. Kaonohi, W. Paokalani, Louis Dinsberg, Michael Kalama, Sam Kahulu, and D. Yowell.

WAY TO UPLIFT OUR HUMANITY

A Splendid Lecture by Dr. Lyman B. Sperry at the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry delivered his second lecture in Honolulu yesterday evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall. Dr. Sperry has a very good speaking voice, and in manner his address was delightful. The matter of it was equally interesting. His subject was the General Uplifting of Humanity. This could be accomplished by right living, and right thinking. There are seven great evils which he characterized as the seven devils which the Master cast out of the woman. The first is War. The second Narcotics, whether in the form of tobacco, morphine, alcohol or other drugs. The third is Lust. The fourth is Malnutrition. The fifth is Imperfect Respiration. The sixth is Worry. The seventh is Gluttony.

All of these are within our own control. Something less than half the world eats too much, and the rest of the world doesn't have enough to eat. Looked at under all conditions of right living as we know them, Dr. Sperry saw no reason why the normal human life should not be a hundred and fifty years.

Work in the open air he considered a fulfillment of the natural law of the mental, moral, and physical nature. Clean wholesome living in the open air he considered as the means of banishing disease and adding to the sum of human life.

The lecture was a splendid one and thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

LOCAL INSURANCE RATES

by gentlemen of the highest standing that tinkering with the rates at the present time would undoubtedly cause some of the best companies to withdraw; those companies that we cannot afford to lose; those dollar for dollar companies. This would be deplorable and of serious import to the community.

"Of course it is optional with the Association to set what value they please on this statement. Suffice it to say your committee are satisfied from the knowledge which they have acquired that the danger is real.

"Referring again to Mr. Wakefield's tables. The statement that during the last four years the profits from fire insurance have been abnormal in this Territory are absolutely true. Unfortunately we are unable to find any records of any earlier years, say for ten or fifteen years, whereby a comprehensive comparison of losses and gains could be made, and it seems to be unfair to base our calculations on the four years of plenty just passed, especially when it is claimed that if figures, say for fifteen years past were available, it would show very little, if any, profit to those in the fire insurance business.

"In conclusion, the time seems to your committee to be inopportune to commence this agitation. Following close upon the heels of the disaster in San Francisco, which wiped scores of insurance companies out of existence, and shattered the most stable of them all to the core, a demand of this kind can only produce irritation and would probably accomplish no good.

"Your committee feels assured, with the completion of the Nuuanu dam (which cannot now be long delayed), and the additional security from the abundant supply of water which it will furnish, that a substantial reduction in the basis rate may be asked for and easily obtained.

"E. A. McINERNEY,
"W. T. LUCAS,
"E. H. PARIS,
"Committee on Trade and Finance."

PUBLICITY OR NOT.

Before presenting the report, Mr. McInerney questioned the advisability of giving it out for publication, arguing that in the future, when the Nuuanu dam was really finished and conditions were so that a better rate might reasonably be asked, the presence of such report might be a club for the Underwriters to use.

This contention was debated, E. H. Paris leading the forces that favored the utmost publicity in the matter. After the reading and adoption of the report, the discussion was resumed, it being finally decided to allow the reporters present to use all of the material that they had been able to get. The adoption of the report was accompanied by the expressed hope of Mr. McInerney that, "now that we have a new administration let us hope that the Nuuanu dam will be really finished." The members of the committee were thanked for the thorough manner in which they had gone into the subject, and it was ordered that a letter of thanks be sent to Mr. Wakefield for the facts and figures he had supplied the association with and for the work he had done in bringing the matter up.

THAT DIRECT STEAMER.

The following was the report of the committee instructed to look into the matter of the request that the direct steamer between Salina Cruz and Honolulu be discontinued:

"Your committee appointed to investigate and report in connection with the proposed withdrawal of the direct steamer service between the Islands and Salina Cruz by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co., beg leave to report as follows:

"We find, upon investigation, that through suggestion or initiative action on the part of prominent members of the Sugar Factors Co., Ltd., the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co. are considering the matter of withdrawing the present direct steamer service between this port and Salina Cruz, and, as a matter of fact, have really suspended the service for the present.

"The suggestion above referred to, as offered by the Sugar Factors Co., Ltd., in this connection, was to substitute a triangular service between Salina Cruz, San Francisco and Honolulu for the present direct service, to avoid, as far as possible, any danger of the introduction of yellow fever or other South American contagious diseases here into this Territory, the steamers fumigating at one of the Coast ports in California.

"It might be stated also that such action and suggestion on the part of the Sugar Factors Co., Ltd., in this connection, received the hearty approval and acquiescence of Dr. L. E. Cofer, the officer in charge of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service here at this port, in so far as the elimination of all danger of the introduction of contagious diseases was concerned, although it should be understood that there was no initiative action taken in this connection by Dr. Cofer.

"We further find that it is proposed by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co. next year to inaugurate a triangular service between Salina Cruz and Coast ports as far as San Francisco, and Honolulu, operating in this service six steamers sailing from twelve to fifteen days apart. On this basis, it is expected that a round trip of one of these steamers, under ordinary conditions, will consume from seventy-two to ninety days, making the service between New York and Honolulu about sixty days, with a steamer every twelve to fifteen days; while from twenty to twenty-five days additional time will be consumed in obtaining through shipments from New York direct to Honolulu. As compared with the direct service between Honolulu and Salina Cruz, it will be observed that the service will be more frequent, which should be an advantage more than offsetting the disadvantages resulting from the withdrawal of the present direct service.

"As stated above, the matter is still under consideration by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co., and no definite decision has as yet been arrived at in this connection, so far as your committee is able to ascertain. Respectfully submitted, "T. H. PETRIE,

"FRED L. WALDRON,
"G. F. BUSH,
"Committee."

The report was adopted, the only comment made being from Mr. McInerney, who stated that it was not so much the shutting off of the steamer as it was doing it without giving one of the merchants a chance to open his mouth in the matter.

WANT NO SPECIAL DELEGATE.

In renewing the contract between the association and George B. McClellan, their representative at Washington, Secretary Paris said:

"It has been suggested that this organization send a special representative to Washington to work for us in connection with the improvements to Pearl Harbor and other matters. I think that after we have renewed Mr. McClellan's contract we had better call a halt. We can not afford to have another man there."

This seemed to be the sentiments of the other directors, as no attempt was made to bring up any question further of a special representative.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR POINTERS.

Mr. McInerney reported on behalf of the committee appointed to look into the matter of tax revision that the committee was at a loss, not knowing what to report or what to suggest to the tax revision committee. A draft bill had been sent in by Mr. Wakefield, but nothing else was available. He suggested advertising for suggestions, even at the risk of receiving a dissertation on single tax from John Emmeluth. The suggested advertising was approved of.

TOO MUCH WALLACH.

Just as the meeting was about to adjourn Secretary Paris suggested that it would be well if the Honolulu newspapers would have less to say about Wallach. He called him "Wallack," but Wallach was the man he meant. This suggestion was promptly ruled out of order by Chairman George W. Smith, and the meeting adjourned.

GRAND JURY AT WORK.

The Territorial Grand Jury was in session yesterday afternoon investigating some matters brought to its attention by Deputy Attorney General Whitney.

A Convincing Experiment

Dr. Sabouraud of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with human dandruff germs, and "in between five and six weeks," says the official report of the Pasteur Institute, "the rabbit was completely denuded, in fact it had become entirely bald."

This experiment proves that dandruff is a contagious disease due to the presence of a microbic growth in the sebaceous glands of the scalp. It also proves that unless the formation of dandruff is stopped—by destroying the dandruff germ—that it will lead to falling hair and incurable baldness.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE
